SENATE IS URGED TO ACT QUICKLY FOR CITY RELIEF

Cincinnati's Mayor Declares City Departments Are Threatened.

Other Ohio Cities Await Passage of Measure to Meet Deficits.

Columbus, Feb. 8.—Mayor John Calvin of Cincinnati today urged the senate committee to act immediately on the Taft bill to authorize cities to issue deficiency bonds for 1921 operating expenses.

Mayor Calvin declared the city of Cincinnati will be compelled to dismiss its policemen and firemen and stop all governmental functions March 1 unless this relief is provided. The Taft bill already passed the house and an effort will be made to pass it in the senate this week.

Youngstown, Dayton, Hamilton and Lima are also facing deficits in operating expenses for 1921, it was said, and will take advantage of the Taft bill as soon as it is passed.

The situation confronting Cincinnati, Mayor Calvin declared it is not the fault of the city, but due to laws passed by the legislature, giving the schools more money and cutting down the city's revenues.

Out of 20.92 mills levied in Cincinnati for 1920, Mayor Calvin declared the schools get 7.25 mills and the city only 2.19 mills. The city levy is said, produces a little more than $2,000,000 whereas more than $7,000,000 is required.

SCOUT'S BADGE MEANS MUCH; IT TELLS HIS RANK; REMINDS HIM OF HIS OATH

"Much information is revealed in the badge worn by Boy Scouts," said Scout Executive K. L. Brown in explaining the significance of the badge. "The badge worn by a scout of the first class is reproduced herewith. It is a combination of that worn by the tenderfoot scout and the second class scout."

"The badge has three important parts," continued the scout executive. "They are the trefoil, the scroll and the knot. The badge is a modified form of the sign of north on the mariner's compass, which is as old as the history of navigation."

"The tenderfoot scout wears the trefoil only. It refers to the three points of the scout oath, duty to God and country and obedience of the scout laws, helpfulness to others, keeping physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

"The tenderfoot scout wears the scroll which bears the scout motto, 'Be Prepared.' The scroll is turned up at the ends, like the corners of the scout's mouth because he does his duty willingly and with a smile."

"The first class scout wears a badge which is a combination of both of the two above described. It has in addition the knot which reminds him to do his good turn each day."

"The scout's duty to his country is further emphasized by the spread-eagle and shield which is superimposed upon the trefoil."

TRAFFIC ORDINANCES STIR SOLONS OF CITY TO ORATORICAL EFFORT

Enforcement of Tail Light Provision in Present Law Is Cause of Discussion—New Provisions Urged and Safety Zones Proposed at Council Meeting.

The city council met last night in one of the longest sessions held in recent years, a meeting which was largely taken up with a discussion of traffic laws following the introduction of ordinance proposals to amend the present traffic ordinance. The councilmen stated that many complaints had been received by them in the last two weeks and although an ordinance extending the restricted zone was introduced some of its provisions were not satisfactory to all of the councilmen and the ordinance was tabled until the next meeting.

Two petitions, one signed by H. S. Parr and 23 others, and the other signed by T. E. Adams and 47 others, were received and filed and no action taken on them as legislation directly affecting what was complained of was later introduced at the meeting. Both petitions protested at the unfairness of the enforcement of the present tail light ordinance and asked that changes be made.

First of all an ordinance making definite and certain the various terms used in a traffic ordinance was introduced and passed under suspension of rules. Following that was an ordinance establishing a safety zone and specifying certain provisions as follows: Pedestrians are not permitted to jay walk but must cross at street or alley intersections at right angles with the street or alley. They must enter and leave the safety zones at the street crossing. Owners of cars are not permitted to allow anyone under the age of 16 to operate their car.

Safety zones, to be marked in such a way as to distinguish them as such, were authorized at the following places: North Park Place, at Fourth street, at the stopping place east and west of the intersection of the street and the side of the square, at car stops on the square at East and West Main streets and at the Interurban station. Zones are to be six feet wide and not more than 60 feet long. Penalty for violation of this ordinance was fixed at $5 to $50. The ordinance after much discussion was passed under suspension of rules.

Councilman Gearhart voted no on the ordinance stating that he did not consider the ordinance suited to a city the size of Newark. He objected to the jay walking part of the ordinance stating that anyone on the streets was personally responsible for his own safety and that the law infringed upon one's rights.

Another ordinance amending the ordinance on parking vehicles so that no vehicle may park within 20 feet of an alley or street intersection, nor turn except at street corners in the congested district was tabled for further discussion at the next meeting. This ordinance was passed under suspension of rules.

GOVERNOR CALLS CONFERENCE OF BUSINESS MEN

Appeals to "Leading Citizens" to Serve State in Executive Capacity.

Capital Scents Break Between Political Bosses and Mr. Davis.

Columbus, Feb. 8.—Applicants for positions on the state board of administration said to number more than 100 and political leaders backing various candidates for these jobs suffered a severe shock today when they read the public appeal issued last night by Governor for "leading citizens" of Ohio to come forward and offer their services on the board of administration for a period of three months, until the governor's reorganization program is completed.

The governor announced he was going to appoint on this board "persons who have reached the top of the ladder in their private pursuits and whose wide experience and ability in handling big problems would be of invaluable service to the state."

The governor is said to have in mind William Cooper Proctor of Cincinnati, millionaire manufacturer and man of his type. He has called a conference of leading business men at his office for February 17 to select such men.

The attitude of the governor caused much comment in political circles coming on the heels of his announcement of last week in which he condemned what he declared to be a well organized movement among Republican and Democratic politicians to reveal the non-partisan judicial act and abandonment of the direct primary system. It was said to indicate that the governor has broken with political leaders and will appeal to the public for support of his reorganization program.

George E. Frazer, Illinois expert is due in Columbus Wednesday from Illinois to take up with the governor the draft of his proposed administrative code which is expected to be ready for introduction by February 25.

APPROPRIATION BILL CUTS ARMY TO 150,000 MEN

Money Is Provided For Reduced Number of Soldiers.

House Refuses to Fix Size of Standing Army Specifically.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The army appropriation bill carrying approximately $329,000,000 and providing for a force of only 150,000 men in 1922, was passed today by the house and sent to the senate.

The measure was passed practically as it came from the appropriations committee. A last night move to cut the number of officers from 14,000 to 9,000 was blocked by a vote of 271 to 58. The house also refused by a vote of 219 to 110, to insert a specific provision that the army be reduced to 150,000 men during the year, but the funds appropriated for enlisted men's pay is sufficiently only for a force of that size.

Under a measure finally passed yesterday by the senate over President Wilson's veto, recruiting must be stopped immediately until the present force of 175,000 men and further reductions next year will be necessary if the senate approves the house provision of the appropriation bill setting aside money for the pay of enlisted men.

STATE PROBES DEATH OF TOTS

Fire Marshal Will Investigate Report That Children Were Left Locked in Columbus Home Which Burns.

Columbus, Feb. 8.—H. A. Dykeman, state fire marshal, announced today that his department is making a thorough investigation of the burning to death of two small children here late yesterday.

The children, Irene, aged 1 and Julia, aged 2, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Goodwin, had been locked in the Goodwin home while the mother went down to pay bills. When the house burned, neighbors and firemen made unsuccessful efforts to rescue them.

The state fire marshal, in a statement asking the public not to leave babies or aged persons alone in the house, especially at night, said, "We are investigating this case."

"To leave a young child or an aged person alone for any length of time, especially at night, is to say the least, inhuman, if not bordering upon the crime."

State Fire Marshal Dykeman indicated that he would summon Mrs. Goodwin to his office to question her about the fire, which is believed to have started from matches or a smoldering cigarette. He also indicated he may question a man living in the other half of the house why he did not make greater efforts to rescue the children.

A window, beside which the children perished, is not more than four and a half feet from the ground and a person of medium weight could easily have broken the window and lifted the children out without entering the house, Dykeman said.

SO. AFRICA MAY SECEDE; VOTE IS TAKEN BY STATES

Question at Issue Is Whether Allegiance to King Shall Continue.

Factions Are Headed By Former Generals of Boer War.

London, Feb. 8.—No less vital issue than the secession of an important state of the British empire by ballot arises in the election today of a new legislature assembly in the Union of South Africa. In England it is considered that few more important elections have taken place in a British dominion.

Broadly the question is whether South Africa, comprising the provinces of the Cape of Good Hope, Natal, Transvaal and Orange Free State, shall continue its allegiance to the king of England as one of the self-governing dominions of the British empire, or whether the South Africa Union shall set up as an independent Republic.

English sympathies naturally are with the loyalist sections of South Africa. Both sections are, however, admitted for their decision to settle differences by the ballot, rather than by more drastic means.

At the head of the loyalist section of the South African population of approximately 5,000,000 is General J. C. Smuts, former Boer general, now prime minister of the union. He is better known to the world as one of the leading advocates of the League of Nations. Opposed to him is General Hertzog, also a former Boer military leader.

General Smuts represents the large British element of the population and that part of the Dutch population who believe that the union formed in 1910 is the solution of the political problem.

General Hertzog leads the "irreconcilables," the exponents of the lost cause of the Boers. In the general elections of March 1920, the Hertzog party obtained the largest vote. It was supported in its opposition to the Smuts government by a labor party of 27.

The result today is said to hinge on the success of the third, or balance of power party, that of labor. English political observers expect a small but working majority for general Smuts.

OHIO PEN WARDEN CAN'T BE FOOLED

Prisoners Know Its No Use
To Prevaricate When Ar-

Thomas For Breaking Rules.

Columbus, Feb. 8.—Warden Preston E. Thomas of the Ohio penitentiary here hasn't given much time to the study of psychology as it is taught in universities and other institutions of learning, from between the covers of books, yet in his 17 years of work in penal and correctional institutions, he has trained his mind to "think as the other fellow does" that he is known among prisoners in the penitentiary as the "mind reading warden."

When a prisoner is halted before the warden for any infraction of rules, or anything more serious, he usually is advised by his fellows to tell the truth, penitentiary guards say.

"No need to try and cover up. He knows what you are thinking about and he'll find out whether you tell him or not," is the substance of the advice, usually given, according to prison inmates.

HAD BAD COUGH AND PAINS IN HER LUNGS

All well now, gaining weight and strength; does own housework.

"Last September I took a heavy cold. I kept getting worse until finally I had pains in my bronchial tubes and all through my lungs. I had a bad cough, could not sleep at night, and was so sore through my lungs that I could hardly stand it. I consulted three different doctors and took their medicine, but did not get any better. I suffered death a hundred times. One doctor told me I had a deep cold in the walls of my lungs. Another said I had bronchial trouble. He kept changing my medicine and burned me all over with electricity."

"I read in the paper about Milks Emulsion helping other people, so I thought I would try it. While I have only taken four small bottles, my lungs do not hurt me any more. My cough is gone and I have gained 4 pounds, and am still gaining. I was able to do the first washing today that I have done since last September. In fact, I am now doing my work with pleasure and feel like it is a dream that I have my health again."

Mrs. Lida E. Schilds, 672 Congress St., Toledo, Ohio.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes the grip of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar, syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dread cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic cough, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

A disconcerting by asking your druggist for "23 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

"I have a fair knowledge of most every well known crook, the conditions surrounding him, the jobs he's done, and the other things that go to help one to judge character. When a prisoner is brought before me, I immediately try and put myself in his place. I recall all the things I know about him, the circumstances of the offense for which he has been brought before me, and I try and figure out just exactly what I would do, were I in his position."

"When he gets evasive in his manners, and shows that he doesn't want to come clean, my mind usually has gathered enough data to enable me to get the truth out of him, by dropping a few hints that I am pretty well aware of the thing he has done."

Before becoming warden of the Ohio penitentiary, Thomas had been an instructor in state reformatories for youths, and field worker for penal and correctional institutions. To those experiences he ascribes a great deal of his knowledge of criminals and the criminal mind.

YOUNGSTOWN BIDS FOR MATCH

Country Club Seeks Amate-
Country Tourney For Ohio
Title Next Summer—Has Good Course.

Youngstown, Feb. 8.—The Youngstown Country club links may be the scene of the Ohio amateur golf championship tournament next summer. The Hyde park course, Cincinnati, is also bidding for the tourney, at odds seem to favor the Mahoning country club.

Youngstown people are enthusiastic bidders for the tourney and since the championship was played down state last season, it is northern Ohio's turn for the honor, it is felt here.

The Youngstown course, while comparatively new, is said to be in fine condition for a championship, and will furnish a good, if not severe test of golf, it is said. The course is 6,275 yards in length, and well bunkered. It contains several interesting holes, one of the best being the 18th, the tee of which is at the edge of a pretty lake, with the green on the opposite shore, 225 yards away. A brook and several drainage ditches afford water hazards, and gently broken contour of the ground does not make the course fatiguing to the player.

Emmett French, professional, is in charge of the course, and he has made it several times in scores under 70. Ted Ray gave the club members and others a mark to shoot at, when he made the first five holes in birdie three, while playing an exhibition match here last summer.

Paul Jones, former Western Reserve football coach, and E. D. Sherman are guiding spirits of the club, which is composed of ardent sportsmen.

It is probable, it is said, that the Ohio open championship, which went by the boards last summer, will be revived this year if a suitable course can be provided. The last open was played over the Inverness course, Toledo, in the early fall of 1919 and drew a star field.

The selection of a course and date of play will be decided by officials of the Ohio State Golf association within a few days.

POTATO CULTURE DROPS IN OHIO

Acres Declines From
212,000 In 1910 to 124,000
In 1920—Bad Seed Is Blamed.

Columbus, Feb. 8.—Potato acreage in Ohio has decreased 41 per cent during the last 10 years, according to the Ohio State University agricultural extension department. The present acreage is 124,000. Ten years ago, it was 212,000. Diseased seed potatoes largely have been responsible for the decrease, it was said.

Last year, the average yield in Ohio was 100 bushels an acre, better than the national average, but even this yield is unprofitable, it is said. In an attempt to increase production, certified seed is used for demonstration in five counties—Ashland, Columbiana, Cuyahoga, Hamilton and Scioto. The test is being made by the county farm bureau in co-operation with the college of agriculture at the university.

Individual growers have obtained excellent results by using high class seed potatoes from other states, it is said. E. C. Clayton, of the college of agriculture, believes all growers can profit in the same way if better seed is used.

BREEDING HENS NEED WORK TO IMPROVE EGGS

"There is a tremendous amount of poultry interest in Licking county just now," says a statement issued by the Ohio Experiment Station. "The season for gathering hatching eggs is now at hand. Numerous questions are being asked concerning the production and selection of such eggs. The Ohio Experiment Station says that results there disprove some of the opinions frequently held regarding the influence of various factors on the hatchability of eggs."

"There is no indication that it is necessary to sacrifice much in the number of eggs produced by a ration to secure the highest hatchability of eggs."

"Indications are that more corn than that is used in a well-balanced ration, the better will be the hatchability of the eggs produced."

"Experiments indicate that breeding flocks should have free range whenever possible. However, eggs from fowls kept in confinement may be expected to hatch satisfactorily if a deep litter is kept in the poultry house to induce exercise."

"Supply green feeds, such as sprouted oats or garden refuse will also improve the hatchability of eggs from fowls kept under restricted conditions."

A JEWISH FAIRY BOOK.

A collection of quaint and colorful tales, translated and retold from the ancient Jewish folk lore by Gerald Friedlander, has recently been published under the title of The Jewish Fairy Book. There are 23 stories from various sources, among which are the Talmud, the Alphabet of Ben Sir, Tanchuma, Beth Hamidrash, and the Jewish Chap Book. Frederick A. Stokes Company is the publisher.

A prophet is not without honor, but the profiteer is quite another proposition.

DECEMBER FIRES ARE CUT DOWN

Better Record Made In Ohio
In 1920 Than in 1919
State Records Reveal.

Columbus, Feb. 8.—Ohio's fire loss for the month of December totaled nearly half a million dollars, according to a report of the month issued by State Fire Marshal Dykeman.

The number of fires totaled 302, and the loss was $462,774, the report says. The record of December, 1919, however, far overtops that of last December's, according to the report. There were 183 fewer fires last year, and the loss was $984,460 less, it said. The report continues:

"Defective electric wiring leads the causes for the number of fires, 35, with a total loss of $165,831; defective flues, 29, loss, $28,312; and chimney sparks, 28, third."

There were five incendiary blazes, the loss being $11,768. Seven kerosene stoves exploded and two lamps. There were 33 fires due to various troubles with matches and four from electric flat irons.

"Four Christmas trees went up in smoke; six families hung the wash too close to the stove. Ten gas stoves exploded took toll of $6,831 in valuable property, and at least ten lives. While there were but two fires caused by coals dropping from stoves, the loss was excessive—$44,202. Three non-rigid gas jets burned $3,390 worth of household property."

"Since more than 85 per cent of these fires could have been prevented, the loss is in some respects inexcusable."

"During January, 1921, 15 males and 18 females met death by fire. Of these 11 were babies and children, four aged persons and 19 youths and middle aged persons. Of the 18 females who died, eight were children killed by the deadly gasoline used to kindle home fires with. The open stove or grate killed four persons, home fires, gas stoves, gas stoves, premature blasts, inhalation of flames and an automobile explosion account for the rest."

"Thirty-seven males and 29 females were injured. Gas fumes, oil, scalds, open fires, flues, hot metal, home and church fires, open stoves, a cigarette, man hole gas explosion and open fires were responsible for these maimings."

PACIFIC FORT SHOOTS WELL

Makes Five Direct Hits On Target 8 Miles Away With Directions From Air.

San Francisco, Feb. 8.—Big gun coast defenses of San Francisco recently took world leadership when official service reports said, for the first time in history, 12-inch rifles were fired entirely by directions from the air. Experiments have been conducted since last April on co-operation between the army air service balloons and the various coast artillery and heavy artillery posts along the Pacific coast.

The 14th and 24th Balloon companies sent here from Fort Omaha, Nebraska, conducted these experiments. So far as known, according to official reports, the only previous experiment of this kind, undertaken in 1919 at Sandy Hook, resulted in failure. Special instruments were devised in the Pacific coast experiments, which finally resulted in success.

Battery Mendell, one of San Francisco's big coast defense disappearing rifle batteries, claims the honor of the first battery functioning accurately from aerial control. Twenty-two shots at a pyramidal target, moving at a range of 14,000 yards, included five direct "ship" hits.

This demonstrated that fog or haze, making low visibility, hereafter will not cripple San Francisco's coast defenses. Balloons at an altitude of 15,000 to 20,000 feet, get over the fog, locate the enemy at sea, and direct the fog-hidden battery's deadly work against the attacker.

Following the big rifle experiments, the balloon companies worked out mortar firing problems from the air, as well as night firing by flares, and tests of new instruments. The balloon companies will be permanently stationed at Arcadia, California, as a part of the Pacific coast defense.

JAPS STUDY OWN TONGUE IN HAWAII

Honolulu, T. H.—There are approximately 20,000 Japanese children attending the Japanese language schools of the territory, according to estimates prepared by the department of public instruction. The number of students to one-half the total enrollment of the public schools in the islands.

Following a lengthy and sometimes heated discussion of the foreign language school question, the recent special session of the legislature passed a law, suggested by some of the Japanese leaders, regulating these schools, cutting down their hours to one hour daily six days a week and placing their teachers and text books under control of the department of public instruction.

NEWARK PASTOR'S BROTHER WINS ART MEDAL AWARD

Rev. E. N. Kraft has been informed that the silver medal awarded by the Chicago Society of Artists at the Art Institute was won by his brother, Carl E. Kraft, for his group of paintings exhibited at the Art Institute. The award is the highest honor which the society confers and was given to Mr. Kraft upon the unanimous vote of the Chicago artists last Wednesday. Mr. Kraft won with a group of oil paintings which included: "The Signal Tree," "Turkey Creek," "Sleepy Hollow," "My Friend Ingerle" and several scenes from the Ozark mountains. Although only 38 years of age Mr. Kraft is one of Chicago's brilliant artists and is known as the "Poet of the Ozarks." He is also an exhibitor at the National Academy at New York, the Pennsylvania Art Academy at Philadelphia and the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh. He won the Frank C. Logan prize at the Art Institute in 1920. The Chicago papers carry his picture and an account of his recent achievement.

OHIO COAL LOST BY POOR MARKET

Nearly Half Million Tons
Lost By Reason of Market
Conditions, Coal Exchange Asserts.

Columbus, Feb. 8.—For the week ending January 22, no market again was responsible for a huge loss of coal mined in the southern Ohio districts, according to the weekly report of the United States Geological survey, issued in conjunction with the Southern Ohio Coal exchange.

Three hundred and seventy three mines reported, with a full time capacity of 556,964. The report shows that 182,645 tons of coal were produced and 404,319 tons lost. Of the latter amount, no market claimed 315,130 tons, according to the report. Labor was responsible for the loss of 36,712 tons of coal, the report said.

CORN, OATS, BARLEY, MILO, BUCKWHEAT, SUNFLOWER SEED ALL IN RED COMB SCRATCH FEED

It has long been realized by poultry men that in order to get eggs there are two points to be borne in mind. And those are, first, that the hen, if expected to produce eggs, must be furnished with the necessary nutrients with which to build the egg, or, in other words, with the same kind of food material as is in the egg. And secondly, in feeding her it is necessary to guard her health so that it is not broken down by the constant drain upon her strength and vitality.

In Red Comb Scratch Feed note how her food is protected in respect to variety of grain. There is Yellow Corn, Oats, Barley, Milo, Buckwheat and Sunflower Seeds in Red Comb Scratch Feed. And every kernel has been cleaned seven times to remove the smallest amount of dust. To accomplish exercise, the second point, feed Red Comb Scratch in a deep litter of straw, and watch them dig for it.

SEEK YE FIRST the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Matthew 6:33.

THE ART OF CORRECTION.
In these times of super machinery, and vast systems of industrial organization, many people fail for lack of the more intimate and personal qualities. Leadership, the power to inspire others, counts more than anything else.

When a person undertakes to lift any group of men or women to some higher range of achievement, he has thrust upon him the thankless and disagreeable task of correcting the defects in their work. Many people do it in a way as to arouse antagonism and obstinacy. They fail to show appreciation of the efforts the worker may have already made.

The worker gets the idea that the boss is "down" on him, and will throw him out at the first opportunity. So he drags along in a sullen and hopeless sort of way, without sincere effort to attain a high standard.

Other executives have a gift for dwelling on the positive side of achievement rather than the negative. If they themselves can illustrate just how works should be done, it helps amazingly. They point out defects in such a precise way that the learner can not help seeing where he fell short.

Many people of superior insight fail because they can not project their ideas into other people. They know how a thing should be done, but they can not put their ideas into words so that any one else can see it. Others of very much less training and education, but such a gift for communicating their simple ideas, that the novice quickly grasps the principle of the thing, and responds to their suggestions. This is the gift that makes one a good school teacher and it is one of the most essential elements in what is called executive ability.

HOW TO REDUCE TAXES.

Gen. Charles W. Dawes remarked at a recent address at Boston, relative to public extravagance, that if it is proposed to close up a useless navy yard, at once members of congress from the locality will insist upon its retention. The same pork spirit exists in all departments of federal and state service. The people who bitterly complain about extravagance, will yet shout for increased appropriations for their own localities.

If a lot of the energy put into getting government appropriations had been devoted to becoming towns and cities along industrial and home movement lines, the country would be better off.

If taxes are to be put on a business basis, the people must stop looking at these questions in a merely local light. When any given expenditure is proposed, they must consider whether it will be for the benefit of the whole country. They must support congressmen when they refuse to spend time pushing merely local projects.

THE COST OF DELIVERY.

One element of the cost of living, is the expense of delivering parcels. The National Retail Dry Goods Association recently conducted an investigation to find out how much this expense is. They figure that the cost is anywhere from 5 to 30 cents per package, and the average expense seems to be about 12 cents.

Many people have carelessly got into the habit of having goods delivered that they could just as well carry themselves. Many thousands of men and as many automobiles and trucks are employed delivering this stuff. And the people who carry their own parcels have to pay for those who indolently have their small stuff delivered. Cash and carry is a great motto for reducing cost of living.

WHY PESTER US?

Vollia has undertaken to regenerate New York and has sent two female disciples to do the job. They propose to not only convert all the Gothamites of respectability, if there be such, which Mr. Vollia seriously doubts, into saints, but to reform the gunmen, booze sellers, gamblers, yeggmen, etc. It is some job the two women have taken, but if they make good we shall have to see them tinkle Newark or Mansfield later on.—Mt. Vernon Republican.

Why wish a curse on us, Brother Iams Newark may need a renovation and a regeneration, and it is even possible that a little of the saving grace of the Dowle cult might not come amiss in Mt. Vernon, but we're not in this particular bailiwick we already have wings sprouting.

Besides, don't you remember what a belovèd time Mansfield had with the Dowlettes some twenty years ago?—Mansfield News.

It's strange how these little country newspapers try to get away with superannuated facts under the fond impression that they're news. Years ago, perhaps, Newark may have been no better than Mt. Vernon or Mansfield, what time Gingerbread Row was in the height of its fame and Hell's Half Acre was striving nobly to live up to its title. But at the present time those two reconstructionists will find nothing here worthy of their steel and we shall advise them to take the moon train north.

The tailors say that men's coats are going to loosen up, but it is not probable that their pockets will do so to any noticeable extent.

After helping to ridse the cost of erecting a $5,000 house up to $10,000, many people wonder why there is no building going on.

The dehydration movement is a great thing, but it has not yet squeezed the water out of the industrial stocks.

Intense indignation is felt at the reduction of congressional delegations in several states, by the politicians who are aspiring for seats in congress.

The fact that the general cost of living has gone down should not be considered a sufficient reason for asking for another advance in coal.

When other powers spent $1,000,000,000 on their navy, it is considered to be for purposes of aggression, but when we do it ourselves then of course it is for self defence.

The powers of Europe are getting down to a peace pace by increasing their debts $55,000,000,000 since the armistice was signed.

The modern girl thinks she can get up in life by wearing two and a half inch heels.

Did You Know

That Switzerland is the oldest republic in existence? In 1535, Schwyz, Uri, Unterwalden, Lucerne, Zurich, Glarus, Zug, and Berne, eight cantons in all, entered into a perpetual league which was the foundation of the Swiss Confederation. In 1415 they annexed Aargau and Thurgau, parts of Austrian territory, and three years later they crossed the Alps and annexed Ticino and constituted all three subject states. The area of Switzerland is only 15,992 square miles and it is the most mountainous country in Europe. Its principal chains are the Alps and the Jura.

BORROWED HUSBANDS
By MILDRED K. BARBOUR

XXVI.—Regal Displeasure.

At dinner that evening Nancy came to understand Edith's consternation was a self-consciousness that she was the laughing stock of her friends to Dr. Langwell.

"The great man," as Nancy had flippantly and in her provocatively dubbed him in her own thoughts, was decidedly peeved.

Although he had come in a full hour before the time set for dinner—Nancy could not mistake that firm decisive tread on the stairs—he kept the two women waiting half an hour in the bleak drawing room.

Nancy shivered in her low cut gown and wondered restlessly around the huge apartment, touching the conventional ornaments on the tables, passing to bury her face in a cluster of superb roses as stiff and as useless as the room which they adorned.

Edith sat quietly in the high carved chair as she had done the night before. Her hands lay helplessly folded in her lap, but her eyes were fixed on the door with a constant glances toward the door betrayed her nervousness.

"I can't think what is detaining Frederick," she murmured at length when a cathedral clock began somewhere in the gloom ponderously booming the hour.

"I CAN'T," thought Nancy wickedly. "He's sulking. I wonder if I am the first woman who has ignored the sovereign command."

He came at last, very dignified and unapproachable. His brow in response to Nancy's greeting was as formal as though she had just presented him.

"Awfully sorry I couldn't get to the hospital this afternoon, Doctor," she said brightly. "The fact is, well, I might just as well tell the truth. I got into a blue funk."

"I had revealed your indisposition. I was afraid to go for fear I would be otherwise disgraced myself and you."

Edith's old schoolmate, who had been so affectionately on Edith's shoulder, smiled her most disarming smile at the surgeon. But he was unrelenting.

"It is nothing," he assured her coolly. "In fact, I quite forgot that you were expected."

Nancy turned away to hide her smile. "I should have expected better than that of you," she thought. "THAT was only worthy of schoolboy pique."

Edith was looking troubled, so Nancy exerted herself to be nice during dinner. She was her most vivacious, her most flattering. She looked at Edith's husband with the eyes of an adoring school girl of a matinee idol. She asked question after question that was designed to lead him into long personal discourses.

But the doctor was unresponsive. He answered her questions with an air of polite weariness that Nancy found engaging. His voice was as crisp and professional as he would use to a refractory patient. He had no smile for the pretty glowing eager face across the table.

Except for Edith, who was looking distressed, Nancy would have abandoned the effort after the first failure. But, conscious that she was, in a way, responsible for the situation, she was stubbornly determined to do what she could to mend matters for the sake of her old schoolmate.

As for the doctor, she could cheerfully have flung her coffee cup into his face—anything to wipe off that polite, self-complacent expression that seemed to say: "XOXO young woman, I hope you realize that you can't be casual about my invitations!"

"Concocted brute!" thought Nancy. "It's time some woman took a bit of the complacency out of him! I half believe I'll be a good Samaritan to Edith and do it for her. It's evident she isn't capable of doing it herself and I owe her something for this night."

When they went into the drawing room after dinner, the doctor excused himself. A few minutes later Nancy heard the street door slam and the sound of a motor starting.

A little sound from Edith made her turn quickly.

Edith was resting her head against the uncomfortable back of the high carved chair. Her cheek was pressed into its sharp carved surface until the skin showed white. The little sound that had escaped her was half a sigh, half a sob.

Milady's Boudoir

The Shril Voice.
The soft voice is not for carrying, but the shrill voice one can hear for a long distance. The shrill voice is a very common fault with women of today. Abroad it is said that an American woman needs no introduction as to her nationality, as her voice is sufficient. The shrill voice is not an irreparable beauty defect however. Like many physical afflictions, it can be banished with thought and practice.

Many reasons have been advanced for this defect in the voices of American women. There is the climatic effect on the vocal organs, a supposed inheritance from Puritan ancestry, the lack of training of New England's first settlers. This, however is not the true reason.

The true reason is found in our hurried, hurried existence. The high pitched voice is evidence of thoughtlessness and nerve tension. In bettering these two conditions of natural illness, we will find the complete cure.

The muscles which operate the vocal cords should have free and untrammelled play. To give them the outrageous treatment we do, is nothing less than criminal. We should be very considerate of the delicate mechanisms of the throat. It is only because they are endowed with astonishing strength and tremendous resisting powers that they do not often resist the abuse they receive. We shout and yell and talk with such energy that it is a miracle our voices last as long as they do.

Our Boys and Girls

After a child has passed its first babyhood other protein foods besides milk should be given to them. Eggs are usually the first food of these foods given in addition to milk. Gradually as the child develops chicken, fish, cheese, meat and other protein foods are added. No great quantity is needed but these foods should not be over-looked, however in order to prevent this they should be thought of as forming a group which are given more and more as the child grows older.

Fruit should always be washed and most kinds of fruits may safely be dipped in boiling water and kept there for several minutes without injuring their flavor. This kills many of the bacteria that are likely to cling to the fruit. A convenient way to do this is to place the fruit in a wire frying basket.

Dried fruits should be particularly well washed. If they are then put into a warm oven to dry they are likely to absorb the water which will cling to them and thus to be softened and improved in their taste. Then the fruit made into sauces.

Everyday Etiquette

"Are you expected to send a gift if only an announcement card of a wedding is received?" asked Madge.

"An announcement of a wedding is not so strict in the requirement of a wedding gift as the wedding invitations and some people do not send a present at all when only an announcement card is received," said her sister.

SPRING SUITS INTRODUCE STRIKINGLY NEW SILHOUETTES

The bloused Suit is here again, interpreted in a dozen different ways. In most cases the blousiness extends below the normal waist at which point it is either caught into a snug fitting hip band or set off by a fringed sash in Spanish effect. The box Suits savor distinctly of the Orient with their mandarin-like jackets, small collared necklines and embroideries.

Fine Woolen Tricotine Poirer Twill and Serge, mostly in navy blue are shown in greatest favor. Reasonable priced from $29.75 to $94.75.

GRANVILLE

(Special to the Advocate)
Granville, Feb. 8.—Mrs. Milton Van Voorhis entertained yesterday afternoon at her home in Newark the alumni of Chi Psi Delta who live in Newark and Granville. Mrs. Fred McCallum, Mrs. Ben Woodbury and Miss Clara Wright were the alumni from Granville who attended.

Mrs. David Owen ofburg street, who has been in poor health for some time, suffered a stroke of paralysis yesterday afternoon and her condition is critical.

The town council met last night and representatives from the Ohio Electric railroad were present. The question of an increase in the fare from Granville to Newark was discussed. The Ohio Electric road wants to ask 35 cents for a round trip ticket and 20 cents for one way. There was nothing mentioned by them in regard to a better schedule and cars run on time. There was no action taken by the council in regard to this matter but the question will be taken up at another meeting.

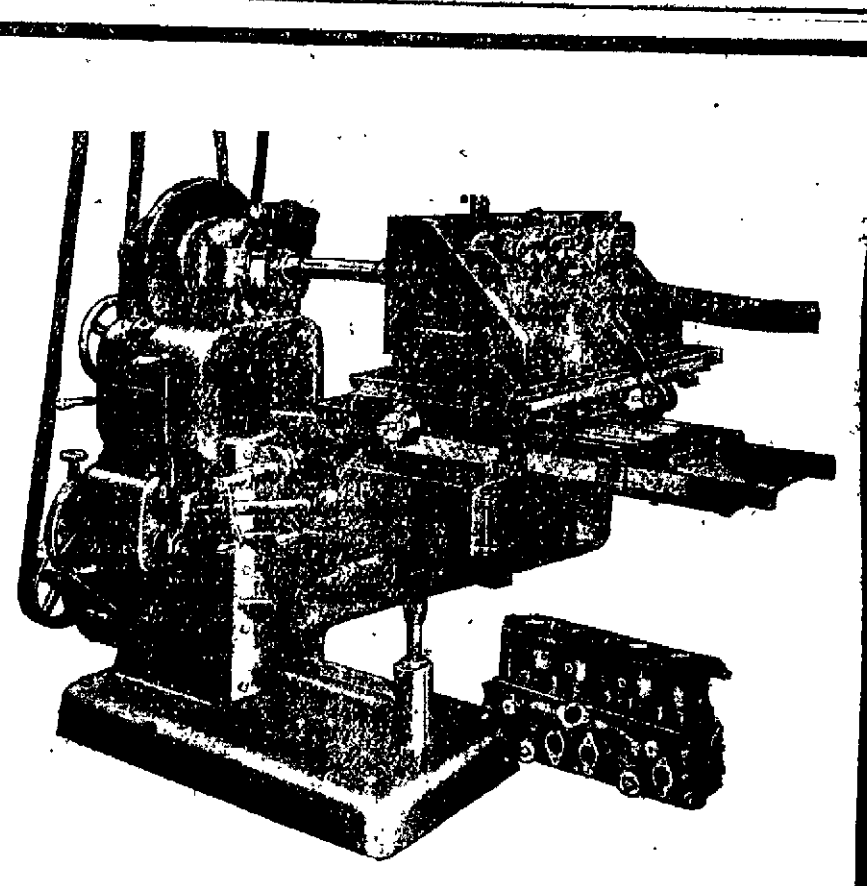

The Travelers club met Monday afternoon in the community rooms. Miss Beane presented the paper "On the Wool Trade" in Australia and spoke of the methods of caring for the sheep, their shepherds and paddocks and the fight they have to continually wage against the "dingo" the Australian dog. Mrs. Stuckney gave a most interesting paper on "Our Wool Industry." She showed what the producers and the government had tried to do to have enough wool during the war time and the effect of those efforts when hostilities ceased which has brought discouragement to the United States wool industry. There are four plans with the American farm bureau federations are agitating, only one of which is in operation. Senator Reed Smoot has a plan to put an embargo on imported wool for one year; they are trying to put a tariff on imported raw wool; the third in Fabric bill, and the co-operating method of selling which was started last fall are the four plans for the salvation of our wool industry. After an interesting current event.

The neighbors and friends of Mrs. Clifford Harris (Cori Rose) surprised her last night by coming to spend the evening and showering her with gifts.

The meeting of the board of the Ohio Baptist convention is being held at the Warden house in Newark today. The meeting was preceded by numerous committee meetings which were held last evening. B. H. Rhodes of Toledo is the president of the board, S. B. Hamblin of Granville is the recording secretary and T. F. Chambers the executive secretary. Among those attending from Granville besides the officers are Dr. C. W. Chamberlain, Rev. Mr. Robbins, W. A. Holmes, W. H. Thompson, Rev. Mr. Houf, Rev. Charles E. Stanton, Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. Stanton.

Mrs. M. M. Shoemaker was hostess last evening to the Mothers' club. In the club program for the year there are three meetings that will discuss the "Making of a Citizen," the first discussion of this subject being taken up last evening by Mrs. Coons and Mrs. Lloyd. Mrs. Coons read a paper on "Family Life" and there were four playlets depicting the different phases of family life: the tenement life, the life of the social climbers, the life of the ordinary citizen, and the last playlet was the ideal family life. During the social hour the hostess served light refreshments.

B. H. Rhodes of Toledo spent yesterday with his son William Rhodes, who is attending Denison university. The Granville Grange "carnival" hunt was finished Friday. The count showed that Captain Bert Everett's side had several thousand points in the lead of Captain George Conard and his helpers.

BUILDS SHIP FOR ARCTIC JOURNEY

Donald B. MacMillan Will Explore Long Unknown Coastline.

Schooner Specially Constructed to Withstand Ice Is Nearly Done.

East Booth Bay, Me., Feb. 8.—Work is almost completed on the hull of the Bowdoin in which Dr. Donald B. MacMillan, explorer, will make his next dash into the Arctic regions. The launching of the schooner will take place in the early spring and the vessel will be in shape to depart from this port by May 2.

Dr. MacMillan is perfecting plans for an expedition to begin next summer, which will include an attempt to circumnavigate Ruffin Land and penetrate its western coast, 1,000 miles in length, said to be the longest stretch of unknown coast line in the world. He is a frequent visitor here and keeps careful watch over the construction of his ship. The Bowdoin, which is being built on the sturdy lines needed in an exploration vessel to withstand the ice grind, is of the knockabout fishing schooner type. It will be 88 feet in length, over all, 20 feet wide and equipped with 45 horsepower oil burning engines. Three-inch oak plank material is being used for the hull.

Before his departure for the far north Dr. MacMillan will make an exhibition cruise along the coast during May and June. About July 1, with a party of six men, the explorer will sail from Boston for the polar regions.

Under favorable weather conditions the Bowdoin should reach Foul Bay and Hecla Strait early in September. There the ship will be frozen in.

Leaving their vessel under a lone guard the party will push forward on a 200-mile trip on sleds drawn by dogs. Five Eskimo dog drivers will accompany the MacMillan outfit across the rugged, icebound country which abounds in peril. Establishing of a camp 700 miles south of Etah in the northwestern part of Greenland, is one of the main objectives.

Within the last 12 years, Dr. MacMillan has made six trips into the land of the midnight sun. Most famous of these was his expedition by which he disproved the theory that a Crocker Land existed in the extreme north. At that time he discovered nine new islands.

On his visits here, Dr. MacMillan chats freely about his plans and several hardy mariners have begged to be allowed to accompany him. The townspeople are preparing to present a flag to fly from the fore peak of the Bowdoin.

CHICAGO PLANS NEW BD. TRADE

Hub of World's Grain Market Will Soon Have New Six Million Dollar Home.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Plans are being completed by a special committee of the Chicago Board of Trade for construction of a new $6,000,000 home to replace the present quaint old structure which is one of the city's most interesting landmarks. Cost of building materials, according to President Joseph P. Griffin, has delayed the project for the last few years.

A cheer went up from a crowd one winter day back in 1882 when the cornerstone of the nine-story granite structure that has since been the hub of the world grain trade, was swung into place. The streets were festooned with varicolored paper streamers and the bare of brass bands resounded through the downtown district.

Into the thick copper-plate cornerstone box was placed many documents which told a cryptic story of Chicago's growth as a grain market. These musty records include the bill of lading of the first grain shipment east. It took place one Indian summer day back in 1829 when the little brig, Osceola, poked her nose out of the early morning haze of Lake Michigan and later turned homeward with 1,678 bushels of wheat.

Nine years later, in 1848, when Chicago received its first telegraph message, the Chicago Board of Trade was organized by a handful of merchants. With the passing of years the flow of grain to Chicago rapidly increased and greater market facilities became a necessity. In 1881 a building site was purchased for $40,000 and work subsequently begun on the picturesque structure with its high windows and imposing clock tower, which nestles today amid a group of modern skyscrapers. Just when work of dismantling the old building will begin is a question. That it will be under way during the administration of President Griffin is considered certain by grain men. The new building will have a floor space at least as large as the present floor, which is 141 by 160 feet and upon which 400,000,000 bushels of cash grain, grain on the tracks and in elevators for immediate delivery, is sold annually.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

Columbus, O. Widows and widowers of Cuyahoga county have filed articles of incorporation as a social club organized for "the educational benefit of its members." Members admitted, however, that its real object was to bring together lonely widows and widowers with a view to matrimony.

FRENCH JUDGES HINT FOR SALARY INCREASES

Paris, Feb. 8.—Judges of many of the French courts including some of the higher tribunals, are hinting that they would like to have their pay raised to that of the equivalent of telegraph operators warehouse watchmen and junior army officers. Their friends point out that the salaries of many of the magistrates are less than those of even ordinarily skilled workmen.

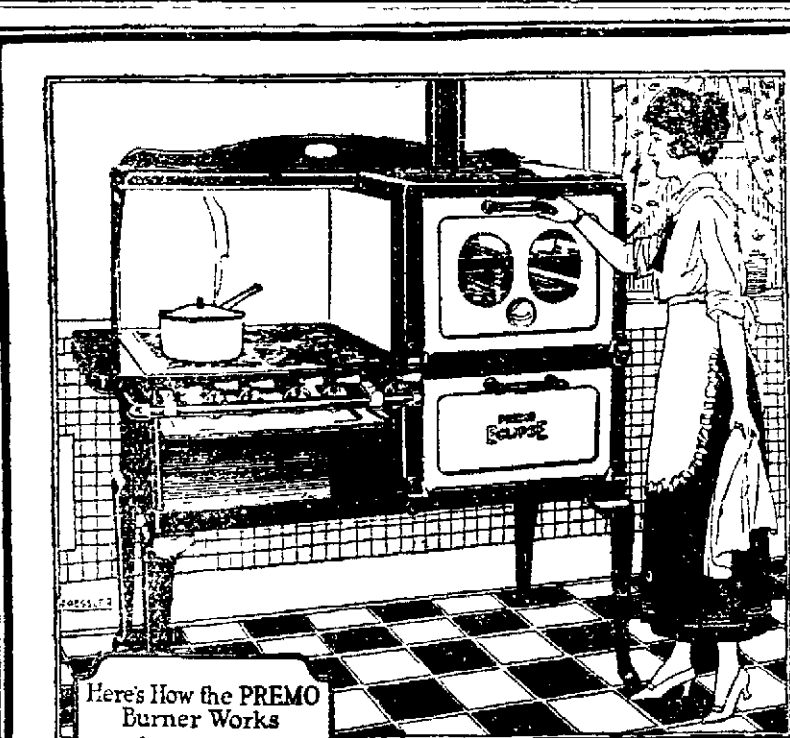

The newspapers have taken up the campaign in their behalf and are urging that they be granted allowances to enable them to live at least decently. Some of the judges have told publicly that their colleagues without private incomes have to sell their personal property accumulated in better days or do clerical work at home to eke out a living.

French judges are paid from 500 francs a month (now equivalent to about $35) up to 833 francs (now equivalent to about $58) for the presiding judge of the higher tribunals.

WILLIAM COLLIER IN "THE HOTTENTOT" SATURDAY
William Collier comes to the Auditorium Saturday in the three act farce "The Hottentot" written by Victor Mapes, co-author of "The Boomerang" and Mr. Collier himself. The combination of Mr. Collier and his latest starring vehicle is a happy one. Then too, Sam Harris, under whose management he is appearing, has furnished his star with a most capable supporting company. "The Hottentot" gets its name from a famous stepphase horse. William Collier provides most of the laughs. He plays Sam Harrington, who comes all the way from California in pursuit of Peggy, his wife. He comes at a most inopportune time on the eve of a famous stepphase race. It so happened that out in California Sam had pretended to Peggy that he was S. Har-laughter. "Shavings" comes to this city with the original Knickerbocker theater, New York, cast and production headed by Harry Beresford.

CINCINNATI LIKED "THE HOTTENTOT"
The Cincinnati Post has the following to say of Mr. Collier's play:
"The Hottentot" at the Grand this week is a racing play, but not of the time honored type with horses racing on a treadmill. It is just three acts of racing talk with the horses off stage. The play is named after the Hottentot, a famous stepphase horse. William Collier, better known to theater goers as "Willie" Colliers, is the star of the play, also the Hottentot's jockey. Practically everyone at the Grand Sunday night agreed that the Hottentot is "some horse" also "some play." Collier provides most of the laughs. He plays Sam Harrington, who comes all the way from California in pursuit of Peggy, his wife. He comes at a most inopportune time on the eve of a famous stepphase race. It so happened that out in California Sam had pretended to Peggy that he was S. Har-

WILLIAM COLLIER IN "THE HOTTENTOT"

Collier comes here following a successful Chicago engagement. All last season the play ran on Broadway.

"SHAVINGS" IS STORY OF TANGLED ROMANCE

As a young man his love was marred. In the presence of the girl he adored he was mute and unable to express his sentiment. It was a without a declaration of his affection that they parted. Ten years later they met again. She had been married, widowed and was living alone with her little girl. He had become a Major in the Aviation Corps, and by chance encountered her near his flying field. His love had matured through the years. He was reawakened at the meeting. Now he had gained the power of expression, and was ready enough in his proposal of marriage. They were in each other's arms, when they were seen by another witness who hated both in life has been that the girl might care for him. This tangled romance is in "Shavings," the comedy Henry W. Savages will offer at the Auditorium theater soon after long runs in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, and just prior to the Chicago premiere at Powers theater on Sunday night, Feb. 20. It is one of three romances in this comedy which glows with love and must do Peggy but that Sam shall ride. When he arrives in New York nothing must do Peggy but that Sam shall ride his famous mare in the race on the morrow. Now, it happened also that Sam simply detests horses—is absolutely afraid of a horse, in fact. He then is confronted with the problem of telling Peggy he was not what he seemed to be and lose her admiration or go thru with her scheme and ride in the race.

Collier is ably assisted in his laugh-making by Donald Mack, who plays a butler role. Mack is almost as good as Collier. The rest of the company is very good. The play is beautifully mounted.

CECIL LEAN'S SHOW PLEASED CINCINNATI

The Cecil Lean show which made such a hit here earlier in the season and is coming back Wednesday evening pleased greatly at Cincinnati last week. "Look Who's Here." That's what the program at the Lyric said Sunday night. But the moment Cleo Mayfield appeared, the need of such instruction was unnecessary. For Cleo happens to be the sort of person one looks at without being told. In fact, so long as she was discernible, the rest of the cast might well have been dispensed with. Cecil Lean, co-star, is not to be included in "the rest of the cast." Between them, they carry the entire burden of the show.

The pair possesses a peculiar snap and punch that makes a good thing out of a slightly "bedroomish" farce. Few stage men work as assiduously as Lean, who seemed never to tire of encores. His song "When a Wife Gets Fat" ran thru half a dozen recalls and a curtain chat.

The story deals with "three wives and one husband." A famous novelist, engrossed with his work, neglects his spouse, who decides to follow the teachings of his books and run away with another man. To hold her, the husband employs a matrimonial expert who, with a lounge lizard, starts competition that so plagues the wife she decides to keep hubby to herself. In the midst of the solution, the husband's friend introduces his deserted bride, who thinks the novelist is her husband.

A rather delicate situation ensues when the bride and the novelist sleep up in the same bedroom. It is then that Lean's red-checked, white-teethed humor keeps the comedy refreshing.

"BEWARE OF THE BRIDE"
AT ALHAMBRA THEATRE
"Beware of the Bride," the popular William Fox farce comedy at the Alhambra theater today. Eileen Percy plays the star role, and the cast includes well-known comedy players as Walter McColl, Helen Conley, Harry Dunkinson, Jane Miller, Edith Shannon and George W. Banta. For the most part the picture is a series of gags and a few humorous situations, but the picture is well sustained and the fun often uproarious.

GIRL SAVES MAN FROM PRISON BECAUSE SHE LOVES HIM
The general belief that love comes to all unexpectedly is borne out in "A Master Stroke," a Vitaphone production starring Earle Williams which is showing at the Grand theater today and tomorrow. Sam Harris, who is engaged to a millionaire's daughter, but suddenly late places him temporarily in the office of a friend and the world changes for him. His friend's secretary has big brown eyes and a radiant smile. Her mouth is covered at times when she looked at him and then he looks at her. But Yale was a man of honor and he was bound to another woman. But when he took valuable stock from his employer's safe, the secretary saw him, and said nothing. Then he asked her what she preferred. She answered "because." That is how love came unexpectedly to Yale Durant.

FILM FLICKERS
The beautiful Agnes Ayres has the biggest part in her career in the gorgeously mounted "Forbidden Fruit," in which Cecil B. DeMille has outdone his previous elaborate productions.

Corinne Griffith's next Vitaphone production will be called "The Correspondent." It is based on a magazine story by Hollings Tenny and is being directed by Webster Campbell. Percy Marmont, who has appeared with Miss Griffith in several of her productions, is her leading man.

James Morrison, who was leading man for Jean Paige in "Black Beauty," a Vitaphone special production based on the famous story by Anna Sewall, has returned to New York from Vitaphone's West Coast studio where the picture was made under the direction of David Smith. His first act upon his arrival was to visit Vitaphone's executive offices on Fifth Avenue where he was an audience of one at a special showing of the completed picture, which he hadn't seen before.

Jimmy Aubrey, the motion picture comedian, has just returned to Vitaphone's West Coast studios after enjoining a three week's motor trip through California. The comedian was granted a vacation at this time because of his steady efforts during the past year in which he made comedies without intervals between productions. His last Vitaphone comedy, "The Blizzards" was one of his best. He will soon start another under the direction of Jess Robbins, who is now preparing the continuity.

In "The Correspondent," the Vitaphone picture, with Corinne Griffith as the star, there will be a scene which will not be shown much more than a minute on the screen, but which took nearly two weeks to get ready to photograph. It represents a dream-palace of the heroine, and as dreams usually are rather extravagant, the settings had to be very large and very magnificent. A large court, bordered by marble pillars, is seen, and in the center there is an antique sundial and a fountain that plays and glistens. It took eight days to construct the set at Vitaphone's Brooklyn studio, and a couple of more days to "dress it." Miss Griffith is seen wandering through this elaborate dream-palace while the moon throws its beams about the fountain and casts elongated shadows of the marble pillars across the courtyard. The entire scene will be only about one-hundredth part of the complete film.

E. W. Hornung, who wrote "Dead Men Tell No Tales," recently attended a private performance of this Vitaphone special production at the London office of that company. The noted author of "Raffles" and other popular stories not only was greatly pleased with the way Vitaphone had produced the picture, but paid it the highest compliment by declaring that it was the first time he had been able to recognize one of his stories when presented on the screen.

A reward of $500 has been offered in Los Angeles by William Duncan for the apprehension of the thieves who broke into the home of Edith Johnson, his co-star in Vitaphone chapter-plays. Miss Johnson's chief loss was that of furs valued into the thousands of dollars. A prized diamond ring was also stolen.

Allee Calhoun's leading man in her next Vitaphone production will be Walter Hest. The newest Vitaphone star already has begun work on the picture under the direction of George L. Sargent.

A shave is a daily operation for an ordinary man. Not so with Jack Ryan. He is at work on the concluding episodes of his Western serial, "The Turbulent Riders," and is looking forward to something unusual—a clean shave. Then he plans to put on "store clothes" and take a trip East for a brief visit.

William Duncan and his co-star, Edith Johnson, are completing some of the final scenes of their new chapter-play, "Fighting Fate," at Ballona and Chatsworth Park, California.

Corinne Griffith and her supporting company will soon go to Saugerties, New York, for the outdoor scenes of her next Vitaphone production. "It was at Saugerties that many of the outdoor scenes were made for "The Doctor Girl," in which she won special success.

Antonio Moreno has returned from Arizona to Hollywood, California, where he is completing scenes for his feature production, "Three Sevens," under the direction of Chester Bennett. Moreno is going to try to find time soon for a speedy trip to Honolulu.

George Randolph Chester, author of the popular "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" stories, made an interesting address at the recent showing of "Black Beauty" to invited guests at the Astor, New York City. Mr. and Mrs. Chester adapted the famous story by Anna Sewall to the screen. They recently completed a new novel, "J. Rufus Wallingford's Son," which will be made into a special screen production by Vitaphone under the title of "The Son of Wallingford."

Elmer Fair will be leading woman for Earle Williams in his forthcoming Vitaphone production, "Loot of the Night," by Frederick J. Jackson. Other members of the cast are William McColl, Alfred Aldridge, Jack Carlisle and Jack Mathews.

Catherine Calvert, Vitaphone star, left New York last week for Quebec, for the famous Winter sports held each year in that city. She is particularly keen in the field of tobogganing and never misses at least a ten-day visit at Quebec each year while the Winter Carnival is on. She recently finished playing the star part in a Vitaphone special production under the direction of Tom Terriss.

Lenny Simon has completed his newest Vitaphone comedy, "The Hick," but has spent a week in bed getting over the effects of the final scenes. The famous comedian likes to introduce his characters in the most humorous manner and planned to give a big character come down on his lead. It did, but a little heavier than he expected. He's now around now and ready to begin another comedy.

Colleen Griffith's leading man in her next Vitaphone production, "The Correspondent," will be Percy Marmont. The leader comes for this picture ture will be made at Vitaphone's Brooklyn studio. Mr. Marmont appeared opposite Miss Griffith in some of her greatest successes, notably "The Climbers."

Sidney Ainsworth, who is appearing with Tom Moore in the current Goldwyn picture, "Hold Your Horses," has just completed his second year with Goldwyn. He is one of the screen's best known villains.

Johnny Jones' four-year-old sister Virginia makes her first screen appearance as Charlie Boneray, Edgar's small brother, in "Edgar's Little Saw," the eighth of the Booth Tarkington Edgar series, which Goldwyn is filming.

Jackson, California, selected by Goldwyn for the filming of "Will Rogers' picture, "Boys Will Be Boys," years ago missed by but one vote being selected a state capital city of California, instead of Sacramento.

Edgar Lewis, who always emphasizes an all-star cast rather than a featured player, has outdone himself in his new film "The Sage Hen." The leading feminine role is played by Gladys Brockwell, and Wallace MacDonald is the hero. Others playing important roles in the large cast are Lillian Rich, Helen Case, James Mason, Arthur Morrison, Alfred Allen, "Tichie" Headrick and a large number of extras.

It requires restraint to hold oneself in check when accused of theft. It is the artist who can handle such a situation without becoming melodramatic and absurd. Earle Williams carries away honors to a similar position in "A Master Stroke." The story is one of Wall Street where vast fortunes are made and lost in a single day. It is cleverly developed with the proper amount of comedy, suspense and love interest. A happy little twist after the climax gives the feature a pleasing touch.

23 OHIO TOWNS IN 2 COUNTIES

Fostoria Is Largest City Which Divides County Allegiance—One Town Lies In Three Counties.

Columbus, Feb. 8.—A village that sprawls in three counties, with fair portions of it in each, is Loveland in Clermont, Hamilton and Warren counties. That is shown in the proclamation is issued last week by Secretary of State Smith, which reveals the fact also that there are 23 cities or villages in Ohio, which are in two counties.

Loveland has its southern and eastern parts in Clermont county, the northern part in Warren county, and the western part in Hamilton county. It is classed as being in Clermont county, although parts of its 1,557 population live in the other two.

The most outstanding case in the state of a place being in two counties is Fostoria, which lies in both Hancock and Seneca counties. It is the largest city of this class, having a population of 9,987. The 32 other places which are in two counties are: Bellefonte, Huron and Sandusky, Buffalo, Park and Miami; Darkeville, Darke and Mercer; Clifton, Clark and Greene; College Corner, Butler and Preble; Delphos, Allen and Van Wert; Fairview, Belmont and Cuyahoga; Green Spring, Sandusky and Seneca; Magnolia, Carroll and Stark; Milford, Clermont and Hamilton; Minerva, Carroll and Stark; Magadore, Portage and Summit; New Holland, Fayette and Pickaway; Plain City, Madison and Union; Plymouth, Huron and Richland; Ridgeway, Hardin and Logan; Roseville, Muskingum and Perry; Scott, Paulding and Van Wert; Verona, Montgomery and Preble; Washingtonville, Columbiana and Mahoning; Weston Star, Medina and Summit; and Yorkville, Belmont and Jefferson.

WIFE SAYS IT CURED HUSBAND OF CATARRH

Couldn't Sleep Good—Was Weak, Run-down—Used Catarrh Bad. REMEDY DID IT. My husband suffered from catarrh and Hay Fever. He was weak and run-down, though he did not give up work. He would lay awake for hours nights. His appetite was poor too so I asked a drug clerk about it, and he recommended Lurie's Hypo-Cod so highly I got a bottle. We saw it advertised too. Today his appetite is much better. He grows stronger and better in every way, and best of all, I believe, he'll never have any more catarrh. It is curing him fast. A neighbor of ours says she was cured completely with Hypo-Cod and she clumped to have had catarrh red bad. declares Mrs. Frank T. Judson of Worthington, Ohio (Suburb of Columbus) in a glowing tribute to this remarkable new tonic. Lurie's Hypo-Cod is a nice tasting combination of Hypophosphates, Malt, Iron, Wild Cherry Bark and soluble extracts of Cod Liver Oil. It is a more modern, powerful preparation accomplishing its work much quicker. How nicely it tones up the system is proven easily by taking a bottle or two. The cost is trifling, and now is the season to take it. All druggists have the genuine Lurie's Hypo-Cod in the famous Orange Colored carton.

REPORTS SHOW HE IS MUCH BETTER

Aged Newark citizen states Dreco has increased his strength, improved his kidneys and built him up generally.

There are few body reconstructants which can equal the excellent reputation now being built up by Dreco, the great root and herb remedy. Hundreds of men and women right here in this section are giving daily testimony as to the wonderful results they have received by its use in cases of stomach trouble, kidney, liver or bladder disorders, rheumatism, catarrh, constipation, etc. For instance, Mr. James W. Dreco, of 41 Vine Street East Newark, Ohio, says:

"After taking Dreco I noticed that my appetite had improved greatly and my stomach took care of itself. I was much better than before, this increased my strength and made me feel better all over. My kidneys were also strengthened and my sleep, became sound and refreshing. I'm feeling greatly improved and give the credit to Dreco."

Dreco is the ideal tonic and reconstructant. Being made from the juices of roots and herbs it is harmless yet effective and can be given alike to old persons and weak, delicate children with full confidence that good results will follow.

Dreco is being specially introduced by Evans' Cut Rate Drug Store in Newark, Ohio, and sold by all druggists.
